

I have applied for a M(Phil) in Creative Writing at  University to start in September so I can hopefully transfer to the second year of a PhD next year. Will I get the place at  University?

This is a question for my shortest email reading- so I did a 9 card past/present/advice spread.

The querent is a poet who has already been involved in higher education in creative writing. She is a single woman in her 40's whose writing is her life.

Is this course a good choice for her?

Will she be successful?

She talks about moving once on the cards- can you see that?

Which cards could highlight her deep love of creativity?
